Don't Forget!!
Chamber meets at Noon Today!!

Liberal leader tours the Elk Point area

Alberta Liberal leader Laurence Decore visited with Town, business and industry representatives, game farmers and senior citizens during his tour of the Elk Point area last Thursday afternoon.

At a public luncheon, where Decore was welcomed by Elk Point Mayor Bruce Kleeberger, the Liberal leader answered numerous questions on such topics as the Meech Lake Accord and senate reform. He proclaimed Meech Lake 'a dead duck,' and Newfoundland Premier Clyde Wells 'our hero.' Alberta is 'being a mouse on the Meech Lake issue' and should not 'let those guys (Ontario and Quebec) keep carrying the agenda for the rest of Canada,' Decore added.

Alberta was the 'loser by $18 billion' on what the province paid to the federal government as compared to what came back to the province from 1982 to 1985 alone, and 'needs a reformed senate that says this isn't fair,' he noted.

The first stop on Decore's tour of the Elk Point area was at Steve and Lawrence Ference's game farm, where game farmers from Kitscoty, Blackfoot, Bonnyville and Elk Point were gathered to acquaint the Liberal leader with various facets of this new form of agriculture, which can give a return of $1000 to $4000 per acre on marginal land not suitable for growing crops.

Decore was told that elk are more efficient in their feed conversion and more resistant to disease than are cattle, and domesticate easily.

One opposition voiced to game ranching is the possibility that it could encourage poaching, but the game producers feel that this is unlikely. A game farmer has only 3 to 5 days to harvest the velvet in its prime, and the velvet must be tagged and its weight registered. The velvet buyer must have a permit. 'If anything, it (game ranching) will fill the void' and thereby prevent poaching, Lawrence Ference said.

Another perceived problem is that wild animals will get hurt trying to get in the pens with the domesticated game. Local game farmers have not seen any indication of this, and Marvin Ference says that animals hitting the fence 'would bounce and not hurt themselves—barbed wire is far more hazardous.'

The sale of farm-raised game meat is illegal in Alberta at this time, but is not a major problem until producers have built up their herds. At such time the sale of game meat is allowed, the economics of meat production 'pencil out very well,' said Raymond Ference of Blackfoot, adding that not only is an elk's feed conversion rate 35 percent better than a cow, elk will eat leaves and other material that cattle will scorn.

Elk meat is very low in cholesterol and high in protein. The sale of game meat in New Zealand has been a growing industry for 20 years, with half a million pounds exported annually.

The producers told Decore that they feel game farms should become part of Alberta Agriculture's domain, rather than Fish and Wildlife. Frank McAllister of Kitscoty said 'we have to have good control, but Fjordbotten is not working with us. Agriculture seems interested.'

Mixed reactions on game farming have come out of Fish and Game associations in the province, and Decore noted 'intense pressure coming from the other direction,' mostly from the Calgary area. He feels that game farming will be debated at the Liberal policy convention, and invited the game farmers to attend and speak to the issue. He said that within party ranks, 'there seems to be sympathy for the game farmers' position,' but added that no vote had been taken on the issue. (Cont. on Next Page)

Jennifer and Brett Flanders confide their Christmas wishes to the jolly old gent from the North Pole at the Lioness Santa Claus Breakfast. Santa went back to his workshop with quite a long list after Saturday's visit with the children of Elk Point.

Plans for A.C.T. mini-telerama underway

The Associated Canadian Travellers are no strangers to Elk Point. Their Search For Talent shows have delighted audiences here for a number of years. Now they are going one step further, with the community playing host to their very first Mini Telerama on Saturday, January 27.

* Local groups and organizations have been asked to take part in a weekend of fundraising activities, with proceeds going to the ACT and their many ways of making life more comfortable and enjoyable for Alberta's handicapped people.

The F. G. Miller High School Students' Union was one of the first groups to respond, and will host a dance on Friday evening, January 26, at the school, with all proceeds going to the ACT. Elk Point Ukrainian Dance Club has volunteered to serve at a supper Saturday evening in the Elks Hall, once a group has been found to cook the meal. Other groups are needed to sell admissions and run the bar at a beerfest to be held following the supper, with County Express booked to provide the music.

The Mini Telerama itself will take place Saturday afternoon in the F. G. Miller Auditorium, with 20 performers and groups from all areas of the lakeland invited to take part. It is rumored that a well known entertainer will be part of the afternoon's lineup, and will also perform prior to the dance.

The organizing committee, consisting of Nellie Hillebrand and Ruth Vogel, had invited clubs to send their representatives to a meeting last Monday night to discuss plans for the event, which will bring a considerable number of visitors to Elk Point. However, no one came to give their input. The ladies are looking for fundraising ideas and help with the events from any group wanting to participate. If your organization can lend a hand with this major fundraising event, please call Ruth at 724-3944 or Nellie at 724-2446.

Remember—funds raised at these events come back into our community, and other communities throughout the province, to provide handicapped access to public buildings, and to make life easier for handicapped individuals in their homes.

Decore visits Elk Point

Following a brief tour of the Ference facilities, and a glimpse of browsing elk and white tail deer herds, the entourage returned to Elk Point, where the first stop was at the Pioneer Circle Drop In Centre. Decore was welcomed by Pioneer Circle President Mike Palinka, and was invited to try his hand at the floor curling in progress. After throwing a few rocks, Decore addressed the group briefly, noting that some of those present may have known his father, who raised his family in the Vegreville area. 'I'm here to find out what is happening,' Decore said. 'It's important to learn from people and find out what their problems are, then go back and try to solve them.'

Next stop for Decore and his group was Elk Point Truss, where owner Ed Croteau pointed out the various parts of his operation, from a giant saw which makes four cuts at a time, to a crew quickly loading jigs with precut lumber and applying spiked metal plates with a mobile hydraulic press, to the apparatus for making floor trusses. Croteau says the latter are gaining in popularity, as heating and plumbing pipes can be run through the trusses and give lower level rooms full head room.

Croteau expressed a concern that the Goods and Services Tax would further slow down the building industry, which is already at an ebb. He currently employs 7 to 8 people, as opposed to 25 when the plant is working to capacity. The present 8 percent manufacturing tax is enough of a burden, Croteau said, although 'if they only add on one percent, it might not be too bad.'

Decore then paid a brief visit to several downtown businesses, and joined the coffee break crowd at the Empress before moving on to visit the seniors at Heritage Lodge, where he chatted with some of the residents in fluent Ukrainian, much to their delight. The final stop on the tour was Elk Point Municipal Hospital, before Decore headed off to a dinner and constituency meeting in St. Paul that evening.

Ballet and jazz dance lessons will be offered in Elk Point starting in January. The programs will be instructed by McArthur Dance Studio which is based in Lloydminster. There will be an information and registration meeting at 7:00 p.m. on December 12 in the FCSS building. This is an excellent opportunity to establish a high quality dance program in Elk Point. So anyone interested should be sure to attend. The director of the studio will be at the meeting to answer any questions.

The Northeastern Alberta Winter Games will be held in Wainwright on February 2-5, 1990. The deadline for registration for the games is Jan. 5. Registration forms and specific information about the many events at the games are available through the Elk Point Recreation Office.

With the snow starting to fall, it's time for a lot of us to think about the cross-country ski season. Two instructors from Cross-Country Alberta will be in Elk Point on January 26-27. They will be offering cross-country ski lessons for beginners on Saturday, January 27. These instructors are well qualified, and even though they will be dealing with beginning techniques, skiers of any ability are sure to learn some new tricks and techniques.

For more information on these programs call the Recreation Office at 724-4409 or leave a message for the Recreation Co-ordinator at the Town Office, 724-3810.

A brief report of the A.R.T.A. Annual meeting was read. Our February meeting will be held in Bonnyville.

Tulliby Lake 4-H club news

By Rebecca Eaton
Club Reporter

The Tulliby Lake 4-H Club held their monthly meeting November 8 at 7:00 p.m. at the Tulliby Lake Communiplex.

During the meeting Stan Parke informed us about a session for people in 4-H at St. Jerome's High School which is taking place in January. We also had Noel Belshiem talk to the beef members on how to pick your 4-H calf.

We decided to have our annual tree cutting on Saturday, Dec. 2, at 10:30 a.m.

Wanda Kipps is our leader for the Crafts club this year, with Ann Peterson as her assistant. There were seven craft members present during the meeting.

Counting down to Christmas

There are two weeks and five days to go, and Christmas is in the air, along with the softly falling snowflakes. Stores and businesses have their decorations up, and carols fill the air. At night, homes are aglow with brightly colored lights...and our calendars are quickly filling up with events leading up to the big day.

Lioness tip of the week

Energy-conserving measures taken around the home can save you money, extend the life of our declining non-reusable resources, and save the environment from dangers such as acid rain. The suggestions listed below are just a few of the many measures available.

- Clean or change furnace filters regularly
- Have your gas furnace inspected and adjusted
- Clean lint filters in dryer after every load

- Use automatic timers for cars and lights
- Use your oven economically - cook several dishes at one time
- Use a microwave oven instead of conventional oven - Conventional oven takes 4 times longer to cook
- Use heat deflectors over hot-air registers
- Shut off lights and appliances in unoccupied rooms

For more energy saving ideas around the home call toll free 1-800-222-6477.

In Our View

Christmas is a-coming

It was most encouraging the other day to hear a local resident remark that SHE was shopping in Elk Point this year. None of that fighting her way through city mall mobs and not finding what she wanted, no thanks. Prices are not that different, service here is friendlier, and the chance of finding what one wants to give is just as good, she felt.

And she's right.

How are your Christmas preparations coming along? Have you crossed a bunch of things off your list since last week? If so, great! If not, don't feel bad—neither have most of us!

However, we do have—let's see—19 days to go. If time to bake seems to be scarce, the Ukrainian Dance Club's big Bake Sale is coming up on Saturday—who says you have to do it all yourself? More baking, and all sorts of handcrafted gift items are also certain to be on offer when the Elk Point Farmers Market holds their special Christmas Market during the Christmas Extravaganza. And speaking of the Extravaganza—that's a great time to finish up your shopping, when all the stores have specials galore, and you could even win back all you spent, to a maximum of $200. If you need to shop without your little helpers, drop them off at the Elks and Lions annual Kids' Christmas Party on Saturday, December 16, and you can visit the stores without supervision.

To help you get in the mood for the season, there are a number of concerts coming up: Baptist Sunday School on Friday, Dec. 15, 7:00 p.m., United Church Sunday School on Sunday, Dec. 17 at 10:00 a.m., United Church Cantata at 7:30 that evening, and Elementary School concerts on Tuesday, Dec. 19 for Kindergarten to Grade 3, Thursday, Dec. 21 for Grades 4 to 6. And don't forget the seasonal entertainment at the Extravaganza—including horse-drawn hay rides!

Keep working your way down the list, and we'll check with you next week. Have a good one!

Out of space

Recently, several readers, who are also contributors of material from their clubs and organizations, have approached us to see why their article has not yet appeared in print. The fact is, we frequently run out of room.

We hate to disappoint anyone, and know that your bingo, club meeting report, or family reunion picture is very important to you. However, some things just have to go onto our pages first, such as paid advertising and the regular features such as the television guide and the crossword puzzle. And no, we can't forgo our editorial page space to put in more articles—that area is set aside for opinion pieces only. Other items can only be used occasionally to fill up empty corners. And front page news has to be just that: the big news of the day.

So, if your article has not yet seen the light of day, please be patient. We are trying our best to get it all in the paper. And Santa, if you are reading this, could you PLEASE try again to find us a mythical page stretcher? We know they are as scarce as live unicorns, but we have faith in you!

How Sweet The Sound

We can imagine "Amazing Grace" being sung in all the Churches in our land. This is the Ukrainian Catholic Church in Elk Point.

Alberta Trails

A touch of amazing grace

By Irene Magnusson

All week I have been trying to think of a subject to write about. Could it be that I - the eternal well of words - was at last running dry? (don't be so hopeful!) No, indeed. But I did want to go into something not covered on Alberta Trails before.

To sooth my wrinkled brow, I put a tape on the machine, playing it soft and low, a tape my son Charles had sent me a year or so ago. Charles is into "talking books", and is so brave he can occasionally be seen walking along the sidewalk on his way to or from work, with a Walkman in his pocket and a little tube pouring music into his ear. Or, sometimes, a book someone has read onto tape, for the visually impaired.

He enjoys music of all kinds, and so wanted to share his pleasure in this new tape he had, and sent me a copy. It is called "Amazing Grace".

Now, I have "Amazing Grace" in my Readers Digest Treasury of Best Loved Songs, and I play it on my little organ now and then - even attempt to sing it. A beautiful song. You all know it.

This tape is a bit different. It starts off with an intricate rendition, the large orchestra treatment of Percy Faith, all sorts of instruments. Then a voice tells you a bit about the song, and it's origins.

Words written in the 17th century by a John Newton, the melody as old, perhaps, as time itself, but generally attributed to having a beginning in the deep South of the United States, in the early 1600's.

This John Newton was an Englishman, son of a pious and educated man, raised in religion, but rebellious. In his early 20s, he was an avowed atheist, a heavy drinker, a hell-raiser. He went to sea, as his father before him, Captain of a sailing ship, perhaps a pirate, but certainly a Slaver, carrying captured blacks from Africa to America for pay.

Many bad things happened to him along the way; he was beaten, robbed, his crew mutinied, ship-wrecked, starving almost - not a pleasant life, nor yet a pleasant man. On this one trip over the briney, the story says, all things were going badly. To calm his mind, he picked up a book, given him years earlier by his father, called "The Imitation of Christ."

This must have been the right thing to do at the right time, for he read the book, got infected by religion, and he spent the rest of his life repenting of his sins, and teaching and preaching the gospel.

He became a Church of England minister, and he wrote hymns. You already know that one of the first, and certainly the most famous, of his verses, was "Amazing Grace". Listen to the words:

Amazing grace, how sweet the sound,
That saved a wretch like me!
I once was lost, but now am found,
Was blind, but now I see.

'Twas grace that taught my heart to fear,
And grace my soul relieved;
How precious did that grace appear
The hour I first believed!

On my tape the keening bagpipes of the Royal Scots Dragon Guards, pierce your soul with their thrilling rendition, as it has people all over the world, since they recorded "Amazing Grace" in London, back in the 60's. Part of a group, disc jockeys knew which one the world would want to hear again and again and they played it for us.

Next the deep voice of Tennessee Ernie Ford, with chorus, brings the words to life. Followed by the great baritone of Jim Nabors, every word crystal clear and filled with his sincerity. Max Gregor then gives the old melody a rendition with his trumpet, backgrounded with other horns, a sax, and a jazzy choir. This is followed by the full contralto voice of Anita Bryant, soulful and lovely, with piano.

TV star and recording artist Pat Boone sings "Amazing Grace" next, with his inimitable sincere style, backgrounded by a chorus, and then Judy Collins takes a go at it, her sweet voice backed by a large group, but every word as clear as crystal. Side one of the tape ends with a giant pipe-organ's version swelling and fading away.

Gospel singer Aritha Franklin gives the old song the full Negro Spiritual treatment, with audience participation, on side two, fervent and noisy, very long, lots of handclapping and replies from the pews. Not at all like the clear, unaccompanied

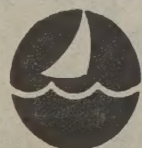

Letter to the Editor

Messier fan

Dear Sir:

I'm very disappointed to hear someone writing that Mark Messier was treating Jimmy Carson roughly. Well whoever said that doesn't know the facts. Mark Messier would never do that to his own teammate. Mark Messier is a big fan of mine. He would always help his own teammates. Even so, Jimmy Carson wanted to live in Detroit. I think that Jimmy Carson made a big mistake going to Detroit because he was a better hockey player in Edmonton.

PTA report

F. G. Miller Parent Teacher Association discussed a variety of matters at their November 8 meeting.

The group had hoped to have a guest speaker from Alberta Education on hand to comment on the proposed combining of high school Biology, Physics and Chemistry into a single course, but no speaker was available at that time. Ken Kluchky of Alberta Education will be present at the December 16 meeting of the PTA to explain the proposal and to hear parents' and students' questions and concerns regarding the change.

Three volunteers, Diana Anderson, Diane Hawryluk and Bev Peterson, agreed to set up the Hot Lunch Program which runs Tuesdays and Wednesdays, and will contact parents to help with the weekly sessions. They will also seek volunteers to help with the Wednesday Home Ec classes and to act as supervisors for school dances.

No band could be found for a New Year's Eve party at the school, and students were to be asked if a disc jockey would be acceptable. If so, the event could go ahead.

Grade 12 students and their parents were scheduled to see the Safe Grad video during November, and to meet with representatives from St. Paul who set up their Safe Grad.

Students at F. G. Miller now have three counsellors with whom they may discuss their problems. Ray Hellquist is the career counsellor, Pastor Jim MacLellan deals with crisis, personal or Christian counselling, and Bridget Montgomery of the County of St. Paul FCSS will also be doing personal counselling. Students may contact her directly, or be referred to her by a teacher.

Principal Jim Hawkins was asked to look into the possibility of students from FGM taking vocational classes at Regional High School, St. Paul, as not all students are academically inclined.

What's news at the library?

The library would like to welcome Mrs. Diana Courtier to our volunteer program. Her expertise in the library is very much appreciated. Diana got her initiation by helping at storytime Friday.

Our display in the library are the new talking books. Now is your opportunity to try one for your enjoyment. Some of the talking books are: "Doctor Zhivago" by Boris Pasternak; "The Spy Who Came in From the Cold" by John Le Carre and "Great Expectations" by Charles Dicken.

Some new classical videos in our video collection are: "Adam's Rib" starring Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn - a 1949 comedy about husband and wife rivalry. "Little Women" starring Katharine Hepburn with Joan Bennett - a story of four sisters who grew up together in Massachusetts during the Civil War. This 1933 movie is ideal family entertainment. "Henry V" a special 1946

Academy Award was won by Laurence Olivier for his outstanding achievement as actor, producer and director in bringing Henry V to the screen.

NEW BOOKS

Here is Stephen Kings newest book "The Dark Half". In the small town of Castle Rock, Maine, where Thad and Liz Beaumont keep a summer home, Sheriff Alan Pangbone ponders the brutal roadside murder of a man named Homer Gamache. When Homer's pick-up truck is found, the bloody fingerprints of the perpetrator are all over it. They match Thad Beaumont exactly. A tale of terror so real and fascinating that Stephen Kings fans are not disappointed.
